Weekend Retreat of Fresh Air & Old Skills

Welcome to Swedish Native Intelligence - a gentle weekend retreat near Sälen in Sweden. Experience something out of the ordinary. Learn back to basic skills, including Scandinavian farmhouse cookery, how to make traps to catch wild game, how to identify and cultivate native plants for survival, how to navigate the wilderness, how to create a fire without matches and how to cook the stone age way, without pots and pans.

Available on dates* during spring and autumn 2012 in beautiful mountain country, near the Norwegian border, 3 hours from Oslo.

Package includes two nights of accommodation and all meals at Sälens - the Swedish Tourist Association mountain station at Gråsheden, Sälen - a PAN Parks facility ... PLUS two days of fun and hands on activities led by wilderness survival team Get Lost in the Wild.

Package cost per adult 440 EURO (4000 SEK)

Package cost per child (under 14 years)-208 EURO (1900 SEK)

Optional extras, email: info@salensvandrarhem.se

Optional Extras - transportation to Sälen. By arrangement, international guests who are not driving themselves to the station at Sälens can be picked up directly from Oslo's Gardermoen Airport. Alternatively, they can be picked up closer to Sälen, from the bus terminal in the Norwegian ski town of Trysil.
